2 Challenges Within the Public Sector

The global economy has been in gradual recovery since the Covid-19 pandemic, and challenges remain within the UK public sector, but our solutions help organisations overcome these.

Resource

Our solutions provide expert resource across the complete procurement process, and we work with organisations to understand their needs and build an approach which complements this.

Governance and compliance

Our solutions are fully compliant for public sector buyers, supporting the delivery of projects and programmes of work in a structured and efficient manner. Our solutions deliver governance and compliance, ensuring complete confidence in procurement decisions.

New regulations

Our solutions support organisations on their procurement journey as they look to benefit from the increase in flexibility and opportunity for innovation.

We can support you with the Procurement Act 2023 requirements, with our solutions ready to provide transparent contract management, KPI monitoring and access to resource you may not currently have.

Delivering savings in difficult times

Utilising our range of value-driven frameworks and procurement expertise, we help public sector organisations to achieve their savings and efficiency targets.

 procurementservices.co.uk

We are leaders in the provision of procurement and contract management solutions to the public sector. Our services help our customers achieve better value from their external spend, enabling them to reinvest the savings into frontline services.

Our focus has always been to deliver services that are aligned to our customers' needs, and we have developed the Managed Procurement Service (MPS) to bring together these services as a holistic solution. The MPS enables public sector organisations to maximize efficiencies within their procurement team(s) by accessing a variety of our services and creating a single approach. In turn, our solutions compliantly deliver transformation and innovation.

A Holistic Solution

The MPS is a top-down solution to procurement challenges. It starts with understanding your current processes, people and data before developing a bespoke offering.

We can address all of your organisational spend, allowing a single overarching approach to maximise efficiencies and benefits. Procurement Services can provide all of the appropriate resources to analyse data, implement processes/systems and manage procurement and contracts on a long-term basis.

This approach will free up internal resource to redeploy elsewhere as we manage procurement on your behalf.

The service also enables senior officers to have visibility, control and accountability from managing a single supplier (Procurement Services) as we in turn manage suppliers and contracts on your behalf.

Efficiencies and Savings

The MPS will have direct access to our 80+ framework agreements which have been compliantly procured and set up for ease of use and value for money. As these frameworks are managed in-house, it provides benefits of efficiency and savings from accessing our supply base.

Where required, we will manage further competitions and above threshold procurements, in-line with the latest procurement regulations utilising our experienced procurement teams.

By addressing all spend, we will create a service that manages both low-value, high volume requirements and high value, complex contracts to maximise value across your organisation and allow a self-sustaining service delivery model.

Social Value

As social value becomes increasingly necessary and embedded within procurement, the MPS will incorporate these requirements into the service we deliver. All of our framework contracts include social value within the supply chain ensuring that the requirements are consistently being met.

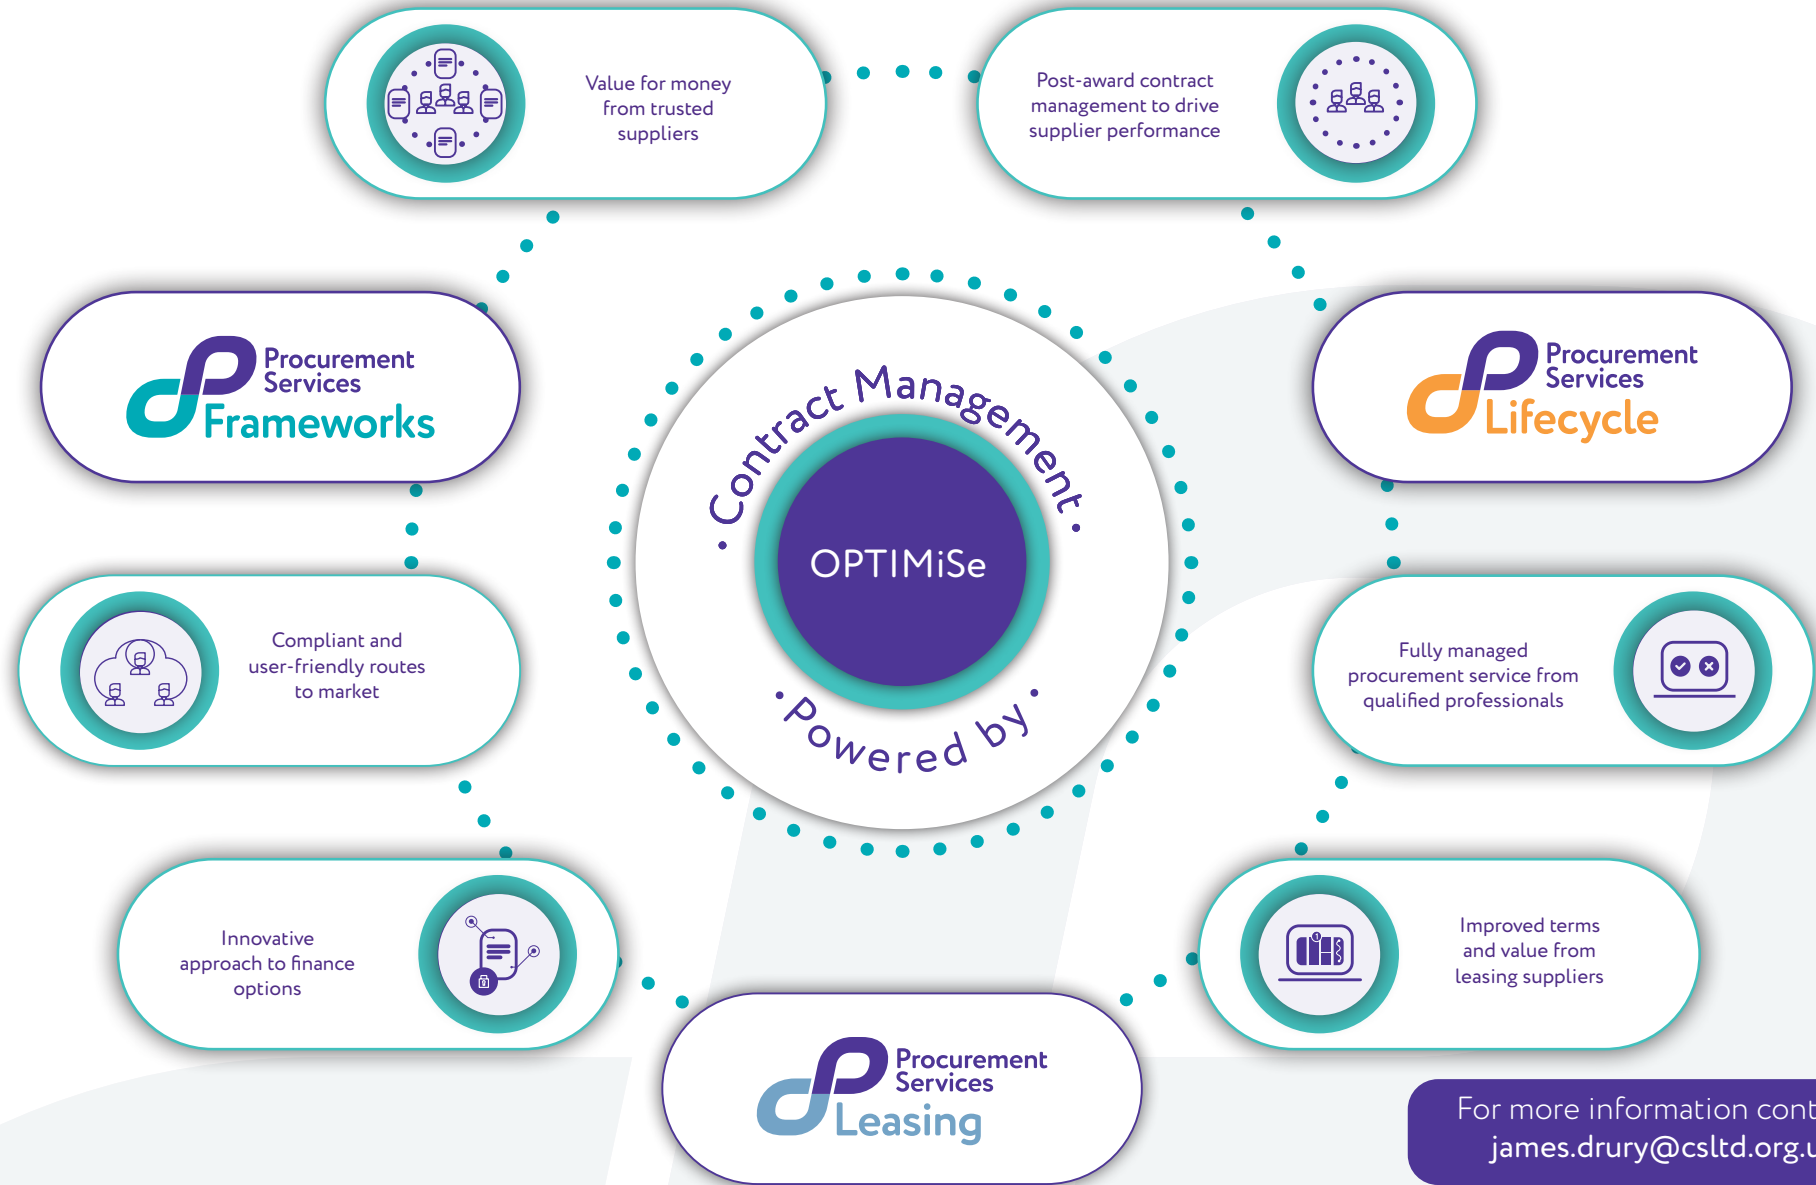

Our procurement teams will also work with you and the suppliers to develop relevant and meaningful social value criteria into new contracts. Our service also allows for the monitoring and reporting on social value criteria to ensure that commitments made at the outset of a contract are built in and achieved to deliver in a sustainable manner.

Transparency of Spend

At the outset, all spend and contract data will be gathered and assessed to form a robust procurement and savings delivery plan. This information can be stored in our contract management system (OPTIMiSe) to provide you with a single view of all spend and procurement activity.

The system will show for each contract, where it is in the procurement cycle and what has been delivered against it in terms of savings and contract objectives. We can also track spend and savings on a category basis and work with your internal services / departments to ensure needs are being met, efficiently.

Our system and processes are flexible enough to integrate with your existing solutions / system as required, and will be considered as part of the set-up process for the new service.

Through decades of experience, we have developed a fully integrated procurement and contract management service. We have proved that these services must be aligned and interrelated in order to deliver maximum value from commercial activities.

Our leasing solutions enable your organisation to finance capital purchases in innovative ways. We do this by advising finance leaders on how to structure and procure their financing at the most competitive rates and under the best possible terms. We are well known in the public sector and have access to leading finance providers to help secure equipment and items that your organisation needs under manageable payment terms.

We provide advice and support to help ensure the best decisions are made about how different assets should be funded.

Using the most appropriate available sources of funding for each acquisition is essential to achieving best overall value. We'll use up-to-date market data including residual values, funding rates, maintainable lives, and redelivery costs to inform your business case and provide the ability to make informed whole-life cost decisions.

We manage a fully compliant mini competition for every lease to ensure best value is achieved.

We utilise our strong partnerships for compliant frameworks. Unlike other leasing frameworks, this allows us to formally evaluate lessor bids taking account of all potential whole-life costs and risks.

We use lease terms designed to protect your interests.

We use unique protective clauses as standard. An example of this would be the Cap on the lease, which places a limit on what you can be charged even if you extend the lease for long periods. Additional clauses include part-termination/return, which protect you if you wish to return or extend only some of the leased assets.

Everything you need, just a click away

We have more than 5,000 contracts under active management for our clients. Managing every aspect of the contract – procurements, renewals, costs and supplier performance – so that nothing falls through the cracks is an enormous challenge. We couldn't do it without our proprietary technology platform, OPTIMiSe, that drives activity and puts everything you need to know right at your fingertips.

The Lifecycle Index

Within OPTIMiSe, we have developed a unique diagnostic tool, the Lifecycle Index™, that delivers a clear understanding of how well contracts are managed today – both on a contract-by-contract basis, and across the organisation. The Lifecycle Index™ is a measure of the amount of effort and focus an organisation should spend on each contract, based on an algorithm of spend, risk and complexity. This is done to maximise investment and opportunity, and to stop value leaking away.

Data & Documents

Having access to comprehensive data and documentation for each contract is an essential precursor to effective contract management. OPTIMiSe holds all the information necessary to manage the contracts, from contract documentation and costs, to performance data and contract plans.

Contract dashboard

Ensuring that all contract data and activities are visible to everybody that needs it is a challenge for most organisations. OPTIMiSe brings all the important information and activities together in a central dashboard, proving clear visibility and oversight for both central teams such as procurement and for departmental stakeholders and contract owners.

Virtual teams

In most organisations, it's likely that several stakeholders will be involved in planning, procuring and then managing contracts. OPTIMiSe supports this collaboration through the use of virtual teams, bringing together the right people to actively manage each and every contract.

Driving activity

OPTIMiSe makes things happen by driving activity to timescale. OPTIMiSe treats every contract as a project with activities scheduled and allocated to the right person. This makes tracking progress against the contract plan an easy process, with nothing falling through the cracks. OPTIMiSe shows clearly whether a contract is being actively managed and, if not, where the blockage lies.

Online decisions

With multiple stakeholders for each contract, operating in different departments, decisions can be difficult to reach. It's why OPTIMiSe has an online decision tool. It allows any decision about a new contract, or a contract change, to be sent electronically to all stakeholders for a decision, made simply by clicking on 'Accept', 'Reject' or 'Query'.

Comprehensive reporting

OPTIMiSe doesn't just make this happen, it also makes certain you have all the information you need, right at your fingertips. Comprehensive reporting shows progress against procurements, contracts, costs, savings and supplier performance. It gives not only a powerful overview, but also whatever level of detail you need.

The approach:

Discovery. From the contract list supplied by the Trust we verified all the data direct with suppliers, including contract status and fixed and ad-hoc spend. As part of the discovery process, we attempted to obtain service documentation for recent service visits to assess supplier performance.

Planning. Having verified all the contract data, we then put together a category plan for procurement or renewal of all contracts. We assessed the opportunities for consolidation and rationalisation and created a Category Renewal Plan, outlining strategies to ensure best value and timing renewals to allow sufficient time for fully competitive procurements.

Requirements. Working both with the procurement team and individual budget holders, we researched and understood the Trust's requirements for each contract. Where applicable, we worked with the Trust to develop detailed specifications, using our extensive library of specifications.

Routes to market. For all contracts with a value in excess of Trust SFIs, we developed detailed route to market proposals, informed by our understanding of the market and thousands of price benchmarks. Each proposal outlined the Trust's options for renewal and procurement of contracts, in each case making a clear recommendation for approval by the Trust.

Procurement. We then ran fully compliant procurements for each contract requirement. Using a range of route to market options, from full tenders and detailed mini-competitions to multiple quotes and negotiations, we sought to deliver savings and best value for each contract. Following each procurement, we developed a detailed Contract Improvement Proposal for the Trust, outlining the process we followed and the recommended option. Each proposal was approved online by key Trust stakeholders.

Management. In addition to procuring contracts, we also managed the recording of service documentation. Using our online portal, OPTIMiSe, service schedules were set for each contract and suppliers were required to log the required service documentation to demonstrate compliance with MHRA and CQC requirements and to ensure the Trust was receiving the service visits it had paid for.

The outcomes:

Quick wins. As we began working for the Trust, they were about to agree a large contract with an OEM using a direct award under a framework. We felt that a better deal was possible and persuaded the Trust to allow us to run a full, formal mini-competition instead to ensure the market was thoroughly tested. We briefly extended the existing contract to allow sufficient time. The resulting mini competition delivered savings of £1m compared to the price initially agreed by the Trust.

Delivering procurement savings. To date, we have delivered total budget reductions of £3.4m over the life of the new contracts.

MHRA and CQC compliance. Working with the Trust's medical engineering team, we ensured service sheets were collected from suppliers via our online portal, OPTIMiSe. These service sheets were checked against the agreed schedule of service visits. Where service sheets were missing, we chased suppliers to ensure we had them on the system. In some instances, we were able to demonstrate that service visits had not taken place, arranging rebates for the work that had not been carried out.

Releasing trust resources. Our work on procuring and managing these contracts has allowed the Trust to refocus its limited procurement resource onto other procurement projects.

Restructuring internal approvals to reduce Trust workload. The Trust had an existing approval process for all new or renewed contracts. This required the Trust to draft detailed Contract Award documentation for internal approval. We identified that our own Contract Improvement Proposals contained almost all the required information. Working with the Trust, we amended our own processes and documentation to allow the Trust to use our own proposals, saving considerable effort for Trust staff.

Real control over contracts and spend. All contracts are loaded to our OPTIMiSe system. This includes all costs, contract documentation, expiry dates and service sheets. The Trust is able to access these details on demand via a range of reports and ensures the Trust has real control over their contracts and associated spend.

“We're extremely happy with the outcome of both procurement projects, which delivered more than £3m in savings. Lifecycle have done a really professional and thorough job, liaising with stakeholders across the Trust to ensure we received precisely what we needed, while achieving an excellent deal for the Trust.”
